

HOW DOES IT WORK?

The Idaho State University College of Business and the Idaho College of Osteopathic Medicine have partnered to offer ICOM students the opportunity to complete a Master of Healthcare Administration (MHA) degree while pursuing their DO degree through co-admission and co-enrollment.

MORE INFORMATION

For more information, please visit

idahocom.org/academics/do-mha-program

isu.edu/mha/do

CONTACT US

Luke Mortensen, PhD

ICOM Associate Dean of Educational Development, Innovation and Diversity
lmortensen@idahocom.org

Kristine McCarty, MBA

Director of Graduate Studies at Idaho State University | College of Business
kristinemccarty@isu.edu

Idaho College of Osteopathic Medicine

DO + MHA

CONCURRENT PROGRAM

Idaho State University

College of Business

APPLICATION PROCESS

ICOM students interested in applying to this program must seek and receive prior review and approval from the Student Success Committee and the ICOM Dean. Additionally, MHA applicants must meet the admissions requirement for the program at Idaho State University.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

A student can apply for and begin the program in any term.

Fall Start: June 1
Spring Start: November 1
Summer Start: April 1

"Idaho State University is where I received my undergraduate education, so I knew that the graduate programs would be phenomenal, as well."

-Kory Andersen, OMS-III

Why Pursue an MHA?

Physicians are increasingly assuming significant leadership and administrative roles across the healthcare industry. Earning a masters degree in healthcare administration together with the Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree will greatly expand your understanding of the business of medicine and further your preparation to assume important leadership positions now and in the future.

Program Goals

The DO-MHA program at Idaho State will provide ICOM student doctors with foundational conceptual, technical, and human relations skills that emphasize communication and relationship management, leadership, professionalism, knowledge of the healthcare environment, and business knowledge and related skills.

Curriculum

ICOM students can expect to take 33 credits (11 courses) in total for the Master of Healthcare Administration program.

